

A Bloody Canvas

"Astronomy Can Be Fun"

Visit "Astronomy Can Be Fun" on MotoLyrics.com

Tonight, tonight I'll meet you Underneath the stars...
I'll sing you something so beautiful
To spark the fireworks hidden behind your eyes
I'll sing you something short and sweet
To light the fire for your fuse
The sky will scream in reds and blues
I'll make tonight so beautiful
For it's the night I'll say goodbye...
... isn't it pretty how the stars seem to streak together tonight...
... well I found a new start and it shines brighter than you, it lights my way through the dark, while I'm walking alone you'll be the only star in my sky with that look in your eyes, it will guide me home...
... and those nights in my arms prove that the first star you see may not be a star, you were never my star it seems...
I'll set my telescope to a peripheral view
So I can sit and watch you and know you would shine so bright...
... well here's a new star and it could shine brighter than you, brighter than you...
... isn't it pretty how the stars seem to streak together at night?

Visit A Bloody Canvas page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.