You're such a sucker for my sweet talk
I love the way your eyes fall to the floor
When I say "I love you"
I love the way your bones begin to shake the second I take your hand in mine
Oh, scream safe silence
Oh, scream sweet safety
You love the way I say your name (with a smile)
You love the way the words roll off my tongue (like they were meant to)
You love the way I make you feel secure
(well your always right)
And you are such a sucker for anything poetic
I love the way your heart can skip a beat
When you think of me
The way we never found the words to say...
... you are such a sucker for anything acoustic...
... (I love the way we never found the words to say)
You love the way I say your name (with a smile)
You love the way the words roll off my tongue (like they were meant to)
You love the way I make you feel secure
(well your always right)...
... and you are, you are such a sucker for anything acoustic...
