So look at me now, understand where I am, on top
where you won't ever be.

So look at me now, understand where I am, on top
where you won't ever be,
You stood up late to reach the train.
Not sorry for that, just remember what you said, I'm stuck in circles with walls around me that I can't kick away.

Take a look around you, these pictures of me, these guys following,
Your pretty face looks strange.
Take a look around you, these pictures of me, these
guys following,
Your pretty face looks strange!

What will you do, and how far will you go to reclaim
your place?
Will you be the bandage for my bleeding?
What will you do, and how far will you go to reclaim
your place?
Will you be the bandage for my bleeding?
What will you do, and how far will you go?

So what will you do, with your back against the wall?
I'm standing right in front of you, my words are blaming you, that's all.
And where will you go, when there's nothing left to say?
Your stuck in circles with walls around you, you can't kick away.

Take a look around you, these pictures of me, these
guys following,
Your pretty face looks strange.
Take a look around you, these pictures of me, these
guys following,
Your pretty face looks strange.

Would you bleed a river to construct a spirit full of pieces based on good old memories?

What will you do, and how far will you go to reclaim
your place?
Will you be the bandage for my bleeding?
What will you do, and how far will you go to reclaim
your place?
Will you be the bandage for my bleeding?
What will you do, and how far will you go to reclaim
your place?
Will you be the bandage for my bleeding?
What will you do, and how far will you go?
