

A Day Overdue "Relapse"

I'm the odd one out in a crowded room, send my regards on a postcard to the bride and groom, lawfully wedded, a day that's dreaded, dancing in the dark to the same old tune. Stared in the mirror saw the end is nearer than we think maybe it'll pass me by if i drink myself half way to death, got a date with hate I'm tired of this loneliness.

Bright eyed girl listen to the sound of your heartbeat beating. Blue eyed boy take a look around is this what you wanted?

Take it back! Take it back!! I opened my mouth before i could think about it, i guess i had another relapse, will you - will you - will you just forget about it.

Take me away im making no sense im guilty of fear but in my defense i win the battle but i lose the war, im a yes man and there's no way you can count on me to show. Words are my weapons but im tripping over them all the time, i try to fight it gotta hit the bottle at the bottom i know ill be alright

Bright eyed girl listen to the sound of your heartbeat beating. Blue eyed boy take a look around is this what you wanted?

Take it back! Take it back!! I opened my mouth before i could think about it, i guess i had another relapse, will you - will you - will you just forget about it.

I need someone I need something please be mine tonight
