

A Fire Inside "He Who Laughs Last"

Visit "He Who Laughs Last" on MotoLyrics.com

No trust can be given freely, it's a valuable commodity
But obviously this is something you've never learned Faith is something that you put in friends
And had I excess morals to lend

I'd let you borrow them but my trust you haven't earned We've got a problem? First of all there is no we I'm detached from you completely, I've got a problem
You tell lies to my friends and think it won't get back to me

No bond can ever seem to make a stable fit in our relationship
But one thing that never comes between us is honesty
When you have something to say You always seem to find a way to avoid the truth or instead avoid me

Straight up is how you'll see me stand
But it is never in your plans to be straight forward So instead, you use deceit now I would like to take apart
What you've been breaking from the start
I'll remain intact I won't be broken in defeat no trust

Visit A Fire Inside page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.