You never give your heart to a stranger
Or tell your secrets to a friend
You'll put your heart in mortal danger
They all desert you in the end

The more you live, the more you love
Or so they say, the more you love, the more you go
away

They say that nothing lasts forever
And even true love turns to pain
Don't trust your feelings to a stranger
Don't wanna go through this again

Or so they say, the more you love, the more you go

Or so they say, the more you love, the more you go

Don't ever give your heart to a stranger Don't ever think that you can hold on You'll put your heart in mortal danger
You turn around and love has gone

Or so they say, the more you love, the more you go

Or so they say, the more you love, the more you go

Or so they say, the more you love, the more you go
