Loneliness

A constant friend and lover I know well

Crowded rooms

The iron bars that surround me

Trying hard to catch your eye just once

Did you see?

Knowing from this moment if you did

We could be

One step closer

Closer than we are

One step closer

Much closer than before

So many lines, you've heard them all

A lie in every one

From men who never understand

Your personality

And though we never even met

No talking needs to be done

The hum of conversation

Will dissolve you into me

One step closer

Closer than we were

One step closer

Much closer than before

One step closer

Much closer than we were

One step closer

Much closer than before

One step closer

Much closer than we were

One step closer

This closer than before

One step closer

Much closer than we were

One step closer
This closer than before
