Whatever happened to the girl I knew?
What kind of world have you been drawn into?
Somebody turned your head, what is the game
Because I haven't changed
I'm still the same

You just can't look me straight in the eye, can you?
The guilt, the shame and the little white lies, damn you
Can't get the toothpaste back in the tube
What's done is done, can't be misconstrued

Whatever happened to the girl I knew?
What kind of world have you been drawn into?
Somebody turned your head, what is the game
Because I haven't changed
I'm still the same

And when the final curtain is down, lady
Your whole life fragments scattered around, baby
Don't lay the blame at anyone's door
Don't point your finger, not any more...

Whatever happened to the girl I knew?
What kind of world have you been drawn into?
Somebody turned your head, what is the game
Because I haven't changed
I'm still the same

Somebody turned your head, what is the game
Because I haven't changed

Whatever happened to the girl I knew?
What kind of world have you been drawn into?
Somebody turned your head, what is the game
Because I haven't changed
I'm still the same
