Looking out my bedroom window;
finding hope and constant lies.
Tried my hardest to just cut these strings.
These strings that hold me back.

I don't know just what he tells you
but to me, it sounds like a lie.
Following letters, following letters in lipstick.
It seems to me you're running out, running out.

Sitting, waiting for your phone call.
What's the point, when you're not here?
I don't know why you make me feel this way.
But still I'm falling faster.

I don't know just what he tells you
but to me, it sounds like a lie.
Following letters, following letters in lipstick.
It seems to me you're running out, running out of time.

I've heard a voice, a constant interest telling me to run & get you.
I feel no need,
you need to fall this time.
You need to fall this --

I don't know just what he tells you
but to me, it sounds like a lie.
Following letters, following letters in lipstick.
It seems to me you're running out, running out of time.

Keeping the letters written in lipstick Can't believe everything has happened to me at the same time.
I'm running out, running out of time.
