

A Heartwell Ending

"Two R's Are Better Than One"

Visit "Two R's Are Better Than One" on MotoLyrics.com

Any little bit any little bit bit could help raise your voice come on come on and scream it out take another little piece go ahead and rip it out slowly sipping from the drink he bought her she left her makeup stain on his collar all his friends told him not to bother but everything is going right tonight i know no rhyme no reason lies keep teasin kisses make up smears her eyes she's starin at me, she stairs so sadly she keeps pretending she's alright can you hear me breathing quiet tonight thought you hope for the worst moving in for the kiss why you turning away you want this can you see me fading out of the light every bit of it hurts
everyone of her words
she seems so sweet so useless hanging from the rooftops by her fingertips she's barely holding on slow serene and quiet

i say we try it i say we be what she would want any little bit any little bit bit could help raise your voice come on come on and rip it out can you hear me breathing quiet tonight thought you hope for the worst moving in for the kiss why you turning away you want this
can you see me fading out of the light
every bit of it hurts
everyone of her words
she seems so sweet so useless
do you know what i thought when i first say you do you know what i thought when i thought that i say you ying with him you always told me you'd be faithful you always told me you'd be true you always acted, you always acted different with me with me

