Stand as the snowflakes fall silently
Finding their rest in the street
They parachute down spinning gracefully
To the tune of the bells in the city

I am hopelessly in love

Sing me a song that you wrote just for me
And I will do the same
My eyes tell you something my voice never could

As I grin and look into your face

I am hopelessly in love with you

The fault lines are surely and slowly expanding
Upon your youthful face
Our bodies' decay is no match for the promise
Of love and faithfulness

I am hopelessly and faithfully in love with you
