I can't hold on, knowing that this life has taken a wrong turn.

This burn inside, this burn is taking over.

I ask myself is this feeling natural.

Are these feelings inside, taking over now.

Just remember, I was your first.

I was your first, you were my love.

You expect me to lie.

What we had was full of worth.

You expect me to lie.

But what did it mean.

And I can't hold on.

I hope you cry at night.

Now I see that you're not well.

Your skin shows the story of your unveiling life.

To forgive is to forget, but neither will I do.

This pain can never be erased, only buried.

So take your disease, rot away.

Because what once was a soul...

You're just another number.

I can't hold on knowing that this life's taken a wrong turn.

This burn inside, this burn is taking over.

I ask myself is this feeling natura
