We were thrown together, like some backyard party,
Who'd a known forever, could'a come from harley, no.
And what looks like love, and what feels like summer to me.

Hey

And we made new discoveries in the crowd backseat,
Of a two door camry, and we left with barely a heart, a piece.
Just one heart a beating between us.

It's something we just know, it's something we just know.

We were looking out from someone's bedroom window,
When I knew I loved you, and I can't remember a damn thing.
But that love, and that loves outlasting forever.

So may we never wonder, may we never wonder, may we,
Take each other, to have and hold on to.
And may I always have you.

It's something we just know, we feel it in our bones.
We can't leave it alone, it's something we just know.

Some may use their judgement, some will use their wisdom.
Me I, use my gut, and my gut, my gut.
My gut don't lie to me, my gut don't lie to me.

It's something we just know, we feel it in our bones.
We don't need to be told, it's something we just know.
It's something we just know.
