I'm ready now you stay still we'll attack them when I will speak you silence you wait for another white man you wait someone of them every day we could be a shooter's and fisher's people but you change us into ruthless killers we learned to extract your scalps to grasp a bow to kill another man we shot you from far off because we faced for a counter in front off you wiped out our people you set up our hamlet on fire who stayed was shot up in his earth in surrounded of false nature you wiped us - for your envy you'll be punish anyhow - for your power abuse.
