

A Letter For Sally "Sincerely Unyour"

You care nothing, your wounds now bleeds
You lost your friends in memories Choices you made are wrong, surely
You took your time but you're not free

You stomp the ground to make you hear
The light is out lying on the floor
Photos tell you the times are changed
A glorious life transformed in shame' shame

The truth you asked is faded away
As all the friends of yesterday
The empty space into your soul
Can't be fulfilled with drugs and alcohol

You sucked the poison out of the wounds... And fill veins with blood
You calmed the pain inside my head... What I was looking for
The one who ignored what violence is... Only happy things
You know the times I fell for you... I can't trust you know more

You sucked the poison of the wounds...

No more...
