

A Lifelike Story

The water flows and waves unwind as the mist fills the air

I'd give my life away for just one chance to take you
there

Drenched in nothingness with no escape no need to hide

Time goes by

The sun would round the sky as if it were a spy

You wouldn't be there like you weren't there my entire life

I'd sit there wondering what I did wrong

You've been gone ten years too long

Time goes by ten years too long

Time goes by ten years too long

Tears fill my eyes it's no surprise that I can't cure my heart

When I think of all the things you missed since you've been gone

There no excuse to all your truth you've always been a lie

Times goes by

The sun would rise each day reminding me that your not here

The spider webs around your chair a sign that your not
there

I'd sit there wondering what I did wrong

You've been gone ten years too long

Time goes by ten years too long

Time goes by ten years too long

What did I do wrong

Ten years too long

What did I do wrong

Ten years too long

Time goes by

Time goes by

Ten years too long

What did I do wrong

Ten years too long

What did I do wrong
Ten years too long Time goes by
(Ten years too long)
What did I do wrong
