Iâve figured all the years we shared were proof enough
To extend my hand and help you i know that gettng started can be rough
If you smile, you seem grateful
I felt good about myself
Thatâs until the day you showed me
You donât need anybody else

Whyâd you have to go
And make me say these things about you
Whyâd you have to turn around
After all that weâve been through

Iâve figured all the memories are proof enough
To maybe open you eyes
From the people you think hold your trust
Do you ever smile, and find it shameful âCause you donât know who you are
I am glad you never told me
You needed anybody else

Whyâd you have to go
And make me say these things about you
Whyâd you have to turn around
After all that weâve been through

What will you do when thereâs no-one to fall back on I wonât be there, i âve learned my lesson
What will you do when thereâs no friends to fall back on
Because theyâve all been stepped on

Whyâd you have to go
And make me say these things about you
Whyâd you have to turn around
After all that weâve been through

Whyâd you have to go
Whyâd you have to turn around
After all that weâve been through

What will you do when there's no-one to fall back on
