

Nosound

"I Miss The Ground"

Visit "I Miss The Ground" on MotoLyrics.com

I started all over again
And I did it well without a reclaim
And so I enjoyed life calling that name
I thought you meant it was there to stay
But now you're forcing me to let it go away

I miss the ground
I flew till here with nowhere to land
I need a home
I walked from sand to grass through your world
I don't know where to go or where I come from
Without a base, the roots
The ground I rebuilt myself on... after the storm

I feel I walked too long
All my strength is gone
I feel my feet burnt
Bleeding under the sun

I don't know if I will escape again
Or if I still have a place to remain
Without looking down at you with disdain

Visit Nosound page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.