

Nosound

"Wherever You Are"

Visit "Wherever You Are" on MotoLyrics.com

Despite the anger I felt inside
The strangest thoughts
When I looked behind
I know I was wrong walking away
But I needed the burn
And the sound of my heart again

But the price was too high
And that fury too wild
Just missing a place
Where days were not passing by
And these tears you're now showing me
All the wounds that you didn't see
The only reason I walked away
Was for you to not hear what I said

I wish it wouldn't hurt again
So much strain I can barely stand
If we only could wipe the phrases we said
Forgiving ourselves and laughing again

We'll fly over the sea
And we'll dive into our dreams
And we'll fall asleep
Watching the rain feeding trees
And we'll run side by side
Leaving traces behind
Laughing out loud at our previous attempts
We'll be walking outside
When the first snow starts falling down
And we'll be here and now
Together at last... wherever you are

Visit Nosound page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.