

Not So Lucky

"Bad Days"

Sometimes life just ain't fair, but I'm only human and so unprepared for change and the hand that I'm dealt:
Mostly low cards trying to excel.

'Cause sometimes I feel like I'm close to the brink,
broken and bruised, but still chasing this dream.

I'm running in circles as fast as I can, trying to find the top of the world again, it's why I write songs, every word and every letter. I live through the bad days to make the good ones better.

When every day feels like a fight, your world's turning over, I know what that's like. Sometimes you win and you lose, but when all else fails, here's what you do:

Just take a deep breathe, you can make it that far.
Gravity can't stop you from reaching the stars.
