"Is this the best that,
That you could do,"
She said, under her breath then she walked away.

I miss the things that she never really did But to me those were the best times even if they weren't mine.
I'm learning things I never knew about you.

If there were anything I could do
To make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall
Let you fall again.
If there were anything I could say
To bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that I have made.

And now there's There's something I wish that I could tell you
But now I'm losing my grip and I am falling for you.
For now lets take this slowoowow
Oh, I can't let you go.

If there were anything I could do
To make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall
Let you fall again.
If there were anything I could say
To bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that I have made.

I wonder why our lies became the one thing that we shared
I wonder why our lies became the one thing that we shared.

I wish that I could see you.

I wonder why our lies became the one thing that we

I wonder why our lies became the one thing that we shared.

If there were anything I could do
To make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall,
Let you fall again.
If there were anything I could say
To bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that I have made.

If there were anything I could do
To make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall
Let you fall again
If there were anything I could say
To bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix fix the mess that I have made.
