Took a double take like she knew me
Called my name, it cut right through me
She looked like time had never touched her skin
She leaned into me softly
Wrapped her arms around me
Said, "Oh, my God, how long has it been"

And it was small talk on the sidewalk
"You look happy", "You haven't changed at all"
All this time, I've wanted to know

Did you ever turn around, ever turn around
Did you ever want to change the way it all went down
Did you ever turn around, ever turn around

Well, I know it might sound silly
I'm not sure I ever really
Moved too far from where I'm standing now
All those midnight "Miss you, baby"s
Stone cold love-you-crazy
Days when the rain fell heavy

You and me sweet and steady
When you sat out on that road alone
Did you look back to see that I was gone

Did you ever turn around, ever turn around
Did you ever want to change the way it all went down
Did you ever turn around, did you ever turn around

Yeah, turn around, turn around
Turn around, turn around

Sometimes, love's like a ticking bomb
Try to cut the wires, but it just goes on
On and on and on and on

Did you ever turn around, ever turn around
Did you ever want to change the way it all went down
Did you ever turn around, did you ever turn around

Yeah, turn around, turn around
Turn around, turn around
