Ring them bells
Ring them sorrowfull bells
Now freedom has come and gone

We've been waiting so long
Never ever so long
Now freedom as come and gone

Shake that tail
Like any other worried soul
Now freedom as come and gone

Steamtrain's coming
Thirteen stories high
If that steamtrain don't come
I swear i will lay down and die

The city makes canyons
All littered with snow
And beneath their crummy towers
Our tiny bodies blow and blow

So drown them bells
Drown them miserable bells

Freedom has come and gone
Freedom has come and gone
Freedom has come and gone
Freedom has come and gone

We was all of us just tumbling birds hanging in the sky
And hauled our bones 'long troubling roads and didn't none of us know why
And as we staggered towards a frightening dawn
I swear all i ever ever ever ever ever ever ever believed in
Was all of us together all along

We was all of us just two shot birds tumbling thru the sky
And built cheap homes along company roads and didn't none of us ask why

And as we staggered towards a frightening dawn
believed in
Was all of us together all alone

Imagine the view
From a helicopter gunship
A man comes into view
And you hit a switch
And you cut that man in two

Imagine the view
When they bounce that shit off of satellites
And they hit a switch and when they hit that switch
All the heaven shits/falls on you

Imagine the view
