Even after prying through information, page after page, I couldn't find the written lyrics of the song. I really apologize - the only location I've found that has information on it is the wiki, and the youtube posting of it.

Alright, I understand the request is going to be a little obscure because I can't find written lyrics of any kind, though I believe this is in Japanese. It's for a game called Cladun, the song named "You're A Treasure", and while I unfortunately have so little information on anything for the game and the song, it'd mean the world to me to at least have a basic understanding of what this song means.
