Set Aside (She Knows)

She knows that she is set aside

She really doesn't understand why

She hasn't had a date since 2005

But she's still waiting for the right guy

She prepares for the dinner party

With a frown on her face

She is feeling oh so very lonely

Because she doesn't have a date

But she's still going, out to have a good time

Tonight she could meet her mate

She knows that she is set aside

She really doesn't understand why

She hasn't had a date since 2005

But she's still waiting for the right guy

She's a woman with very stunning beauty

She can have any man she wants

Hundreds of guys are all lined up to date her

Every place she has gone

But she can't go out, with just anybody

He has to be a holy man of God

She knows that she is set aside

She really doesn't understand why

She hasn't had a date since 2005

But she's still waiting for the right guy

She is tired but encouraged

She desires a happy marriage

She is waiting, instead of dating

She's holding on, she's being strong, she knows that it won't be long

She knows that she is set aside

She really doesn't understand why

She hasn't had a date since 2005

But she's still waiting for the right guy
