Footprints in the Sand

It started out with a little bit of doubt, can't help wondering exactly what she's all about Juxtaposed, the skyline and her clothes Anticipating all the words which show just how the night will go

It only grows as her smile sweetly glows and the summer breeze agreeing that I should approach Well I do have a simple love for blue Eyes flowing with your clothing brought me over to converse with you Mhhmmm, Mhhmmm

Excuse my stare the flower in your hair's got me tantalized like there's something in the air I won't mislead, I must say that I'm intrigued The smile in your eyes is showing me that you'd agree

Now what's your name? I'm swearing it's a shame
That this introduction had to wait until this evening came And "one love" from the speaker right above While we're moving to the music tell me something you love speaking of Speaking of! Speaking of!

It's nothing that you hold in your hand, it's nothing prearranged or planned I'm seeing that you understand these footprints in the sand. These footprints in the sand.

The simple things I see you love what this world brings Can't help realize your words leave your lips and ring
Now it's overdue we'll take the corner spot for two
With a side of conversation and a little bit of tea to brew

And so it seems by your vibe and how you beam That your heart's content living something like a dream She says, "œmy mind runs to the rhythm of the drums
Then the ocean waves are there to carry me until the morning comes.œ
Mhhmmm Mhhmmm

Might I imply what appears to meet the eye Is your heart and soul are captivated by the evening sky
So let us go to where the sky will show We'll continue with these footprints that we should've set so long ago

The day has gone we can lay here until dawn, we'll analyze just what these stars have drawn We'll lose all complications beneath these constellations, relations, these sweet vibrations Beneath these skies we will rise

CHORUS

Footprints in the sand you can't ignore, they're written down beauty on the ocean shore Some you'll beg and plead, wishing for more, others put away in the bottom drawer

So for now, what do you say? I know a cozy place to stay œThe night is young,œ said the eyes of the sun so come along, right along this way
