

The Pitch Pipes

"Empty Words"

Visit "Empty Words" on MotoLyrics.com

To me you are the sky,
The light that reached my eye,
The colorful imagination,
Followed by a lie.

The time is passing by,
But underneath this smile,
Is fading hope for better times,
No chance to reconcile.

You're telling me that you still love me,
You're telling me that you still care.
But all I hear is empty words.

Run from this hollow place,
There's no end to this maze.
Run from this misery,
That you call loving me.

I remember how you said,
This was your destiny.
I remember how it felt,
To believe in what we see.

You're telling me that you still love me,
You're telling me that you still care.
But all I hear is empty words.

We're holding on to what we built up,
We're holding on to what we know.
But now we're reaching our bound,
Slowly sinking, losing ground.

You're telling me that you still love me,
You're telling me that you still care.
But all I hear is empty words.

Visit The Pitch Pipes page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

