This is the last time I will break an oath to you!
This is the last time you will have to pay the price,
For what I'm guilty of and what I've put you through,
It started out so harmless, how could I have known?

Please don't send me down to hell!
Don't you know I'm already
Forsaken!

Forget about everything I said!
You're better off without me in your head.
Forget about everything we had!
Back to the way it was before we met.

No way to make up for it, nothing I can do...
No way I can end this right, without betraying you.
Can't turn back time, I can only stand by,
Watch the never ending story, running out of words.

Please don't send me down to hell
Don't you know I'm already
Forsaken!

Forget about everything I said!
You're better off without me in your head.
Forget about everything I said!
Back to the way it was before we met.
