* - Stan Graham only plays trumpet in this song
[Phonte] (Mmmmmmm, haaah-hahh-hahhh...) You might, you might, you might, you might as well... (Mmmmmmm, haaah-hahh-hahhh, haaah-haah...) After all is said and done you're next to me And when the sun goes down, you're feeling things you've never felt before Nothing left to say to ease your fears But I know just what to do Let me take good care of yooo-oohhh-ooou [Chorus] Kick off your shoes Take off the blues and come to me So much to do, so much is new for you to see You might as well-lll, come a little closer Girl, don't make me wait too long for you After all is said and done (said and done) and there's nothing left to share (left to share) It's the morning after, I watch you laying there (just wanna watch you lying there) Always told that you should not give in to love (LOVE) But saying no is so hard to do (so harrd...) 'Cause when the feeling's right, you might as well, yeah [Chorus] [Bridge] Just, want your attention Ex-cuse my intentions Keep your feelings intact - Don't wanna hurt nobody, let me say it again There's, no need to mention For, this I've been wishing There's no turning back Lady, please take my hand Let's dance... [Stan Graham plays a trumpet solo] [Chorus 2X]
