"The Coal Hits The Fire"

"Memory, oh, memory what is it you did bring?"
"I have brought you a recent dream from far across the sea,"
Down to the station where the train has pulled in
See the cars of silver and gold
The coal hits the fire and the wheels start to spin
Oh, you're going 'round the sun, don't you know

"Memory, oh, memory where is it I must go?"
"Away from here, but do not weep,
Such wonders you will know,"
And it's down to the station where the train has pulled in
See the cars of silver and gold
And the coal hits the fire and the wheels start to spin
Oh, you're going 'round the sun, don't you know
