Your crown is heavy, jewels are burden
You touch the sun but the metal melts on your face
Your tears soak your coat, your throne is too wide
You see the light but the gems explode in your brain
Hey Queen Loyse crawl on your knees
Hey Queen your bitter tears are burning your cheeks
They want your preciousness
That's how it goes in your kingdom
But why
Hey Queen Loyse crawl on your knees
Hey Queen your bitter fears are spoiling your dreams
You keep thinking that people around you can change Sure they could change, they just become worse than ever
You were a sweet princess
You thought people were kind
They took your innocence
You're lost, you struggle hard
Against these fucking bastards
Suffer creepers, you'll pay your actions
Now that's my rules, I decide
My vengeance will be the worst thing you've ever seen
Hey Queen Loyse walk on the breeze
Hey Queen now you are free, you can be relieved.
