

A.F.I. (Afi) "Malleus Maleficarum"

Visit "Malleus Maleficarum" on MotoLyrics.com

Open my eyes as I submerge
And I won't deny what I've been since birth.
I'll die drowned by your standards.
Breathe in the life of the summer's death as the orange
And red breathe their first breath,
So welcome as they're burning through.
We all begin to burn.
Autumn's flame dance's in my eyes
Set alight for all we've learned.
My ashes falling.
My skin is singed but it heals my heart
And with glowing pride I'll wear my scars.
I'm honored by your hatred.
Leaves fall we arise again,
And the end impending,
It will begin.
So welcome as it's burning through.
Ashes fall and I'm rising up again. Ashes fall.
Ashes fall. Ashes fall as we all arise.

Visit A.F.I. \(Afi\) page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.