mercantile war
method of old conquest next one hundred score despots of modern progress barreled over by a takeover technique into universal conflict trampling over provisional plead education preparing to power it the weapons in our hands limitless ambition burning from either side a merciless vengeance suppression of mind exercise gap the rulers and the ruled le programme credit card heist conductors and game theory tools the name of the game diminish capital sentiment another fee for the next man works toward the detriment we thought our heavy hearts were so secret turns out what was meant was discontent what if the real road to win had a view from the outside looking in by every rock upon which my head will rest peace of mind held tight gripped to my chest for the sake of which it is key to this quest we must do our best to get out of this mess
