Time runs away...now a different place in our life.
Feelings grew, brand new, the words we never knew
since High School...

Just when I started to believe I'd never ever see, I saw that love could last forever... then, I knew life would never be the same. A forever happy ending just with you...

Here we are... confessing never ending love.
How we met, on the net, your words like music to my ears...

Just when I started to believe I'd never ever see, I came to see true love...
Now, I know real happiness, the kind you don't regret,
just renew...

Just when I looked you where there, it was so very clear that every word you understand... Now, my life can never be the same, a never ending love remains, just
with you...

Just when you look you will find, open your mind... I am just a working man doing the very best I can. How did this every come my way? The everlasting who I pray...
(Just with you!)

Every night I am alone, not a lonely thought I own.
Crazy is what happens from day to day... my heart's with you always. And in each and every word I say... is Just With You...
