Oh yeah (oh yeah)

Six thirty mama get you out of bed
In E-mail what you gonna write to your girlfriend
Escape your breakfast, forget your backpack
When you're half lame you're round back
Is that an angel went for hand low
Everybody's looking at you more like a J. Lo
There is so much more to you

So put me to the test
I don't have to guess
What you wanna know now baby

When it comes to you
I know everything and anything
What you like to do
What you like to wear
What your putting in your hair
I know you smile when you get mad
I know the Green Mile makes you sad
I'll stop for now
But I ain't through though
When it comes to you

Now your middle name is August
But I remember you were born in November
You lived in Jersey but you phoned from Montario
Your twin sister likes to talk in stereo
We got so much in common
Like Jane & Reeds with lots of ??
But there's so much more we can do

So put me to the test
I don't even have to swear
What you wanna know now baby

When it comes to you
I know everything and anything
What you like to do
What you like to wear
What your putting in your hair

I know you smile when you get mad
I know the Green Mile makes you sad
I'll stop for now
But I ain't through though
When it comes to you
When it comes to you

I want you to know
Baby I've been thirty
Putting on men's shirts
Could've been partying
I can't fail
It's in the details
Understand that were just female
Some guys don't ever see what they're missing
Talking about himself when he should be listenin'
I pay attention to things of enemy
When it comes to you
It's in my memory

When it comes to you
I know everything and anything
When it when it when it comes to you
I know everything and anything
What you like to do
What you what your putting in your hair
I know you smile when you get mad
When it comes to you
When it comes to you
When it goes to you
