They have fallen down, to there knees
All those ropes around my arms, anchor at neck just gets me down and I can't take this anymore the ocean is my only home!
Take my soul, take my breath away
Look in the eyes, of fear!

I will never look back and never fall down
I would rather die on my feet then lay on the ground
And we can fight for our dreams and we may fall down
But have the strength to be the one
Who will always fighting till the end
And show them all what we really can
And let the fire inside your chest burst through Let go off your feet and it will carry you

Body's lost no one is here!
The creature of death the fear himself!

So we took our chance and I will
I bet that I had, just one chance to show the faith
So we took our chance,
And we'd rather die trying our best than just fall back

Wrong roads no coming back, but at the end of the road you won't come back
(My words will be) my words will be in your mind
You find yourself like at night!
