Spring in the air
The sun was shining still the day was cool Saw her waiting for a bus as she was going home from school

Looking so cold I took her home and that was just the start We would meet the summer through and she was always in my heart

Love has it's ways
like seasons come and go and tomorrow there will be another day
Love has it's ways
and so before you know
when you turn around it may have gone away

Early that fall
I knew I loved her more than anything Gave her everything I had She even got a wedding ring

But in the end the mind was restless and she had to go And the love I'd thought would live was buried in the winter snow

Love has it's ways
like seasons come and go
and tomorrow there will be another day
Love has it's ways
and so before you know

Love has it's ways
and tomorrow there will be another day
Love has it's ways

when you turn around it may have gone away
