So here's the last of what I was
And here's the best of what I want
So who can run on lapse
From here to kerosene and back
It's a subtle tact
Cos for once I'm feeling fine
Drink kerosene and laugh
And rejoice in all we left behind

You said, You said, You said you still miss me
I won't, I won't I won't let this mess with my head
I said, I said, I said why don't you just drop
I said why don't you just drop dead?

So here's my attempt at playing cards
I'm still alone in crashing cars
We're still smiling when it's on
And I can't be the only one
To save some common sense
For the feelings that I vent
I'm home at last
We drink kerosene and laugh

You said, You said, You said that you still miss me
I won't, I won't I won't let this mess with my head
I said, I said, I said why don't you just drop
I said why don't you just drop dead?

You said, You said, You said that you still miss me
I won't, I won't I won't let this mess with my head
I said, I said, I said why don't you just drop
I said why don't you just drop dead?
