As I walk across your battlefield all I see is broken hearts You lift your sword it acts just like your tongue, speaking these words into my demise. It speaks out, I bleed out. And it's said that all is fair but love is war love is war, will you fight, fight for me or die? will you die, die will you die. As you smile in my face, then you stab me in the back and your kiss goodbye won't be mine this time, I'd rather die than take second place in this race of romance, And it's said that all is fair but love is war love is war, will you fight, fight for me or die? will you die, die will you die. Your goodbye, your goodbye kiss wasn't mine your goodbye your goodbye kiss, goodbye your goodbye kiss. Your goodbye, your goodbye kiss wasn't mine your goodbye your goodbye kiss, goodbye your goodbye kiss, good bye your goodbye kiss.
