There was a time
There was a place
But there was fear inside
A witty line to save my face
The parachute of pride

To cross a line, takes a tiny step
But will this spark, cause the bridge to burn
My fear entwined with my regret
A beaten path of safe return

There's a thing called love
That we all forget
And it's a wasted love
That we all regret

You live your life just once
So don't forget about a thing called love
Don't forget, forget about a thing called love

So here we are, all just the same
And you will never know
My secret plan, how close we came

To share another road

Have I lost my only chance
To tell you how I feel inside
Is it just me, I'd like to know?
Or are we all just a little blind?

There's a thing called love
That we all forget
And it's a wasted love
That we all regret

You live your life just once
So don't forget about a thing called love
Don't forget, forget about a thing called love

Cause there's a thing called love
That we all forget

And it's a wasted love
That we all regret

You live your life just once
So don't forget about a thing called love
Don't forget, forget about a thing called love
