Caught up in action or in heat, follow the road that makes you lead
To the no man's land inside your head, where all is perfect all is neat
We saw you crawling down the hall, from a fist you couldn't stand tall Buy another face, a set of wheels, another way, just buy it all

Ideals like most things function pretty much the same
For a poor sick dog or felon in a cage
Both locked for something, one's got nowhere to live
The other went and clearly lost the way

Don't fucking preach we know it all, you're not a savior, not at all
Just pick a simple fight, use only stones, the more you strike the less we know You keep on talking about deceit, well fucking stop it make it cease
Awake are my senses, I'm aware of me

Ideals like most things function pretty much the same
For a poor sick dog or felon in a cage
Both locked for something, one's got nowhere to live

Will I breach fate like the ones who fought and left behind
The one right thing still pointless to the game
Will I claim wage on the tears I shed right from the start That built my name and got me close to fame

Ideals like most things function pretty much the same
For a poor sick dog or felon in a cage
Both locked for something, one's got nowhere to live
The other went and clearly lost the way

Ideals like most things
Won't wake your conscience

Amend your holy senses

Ideals like most things

Lie here for nothing

But they might get you lower now
