As the smoke lingers round my hand
I'll say whatever I can
I won't save this moment
I feel I've felt this before

You can't take back what has happened here tonight
(No matter what you say)
You can't hide that look on your face.

I promised myself the paranoia would leave
I can't break through the wall you hide behind

Look at the choices you have made
The pain that I felt, when everything became clear

As the rays from above boil my blood
The devil inside drags me below
The image of betrayal fills my thoughts
And I'm taken back once more (once more)
The vanity that clouds your judgement
Will bring you down (bring you down)

I can't fight these inner demons that control my mind
Control my mind
