You gave it all, yet question
And wonder if it's all in vain
But if you could find the words to say
Would it matter anyway?
Maybe a little, but it's hard to sayÂ...
Hard to say

Who made your heart feel like it's made of thin
Recyclable old tin with skin and bones?
And who made your eyes turn from bright to dim?
And find yourself become like one of them

So now you sit there all aloneÂ...
Wondering if you've ever really ever known yourself

And if you could find the words to say
Would it matter anyway?
Maybe a little, but it's hard to sayÂ...
Hard to say
