Mystery of the Heart

We'll walk in circles till you and I, find out together we have a life.
Do we need forever till we know how, To live together in the hear and now?
Do you realize, it's not a game?
There's no reliving, live for each day.
Like Autumn, like fall, leaves turn like a page, in a book
of numbered days,
The song remains the same. We never know why people cry, we can't understand
It all it's a Mystery of the Heart.

Each life's a riddle, the question is... Do we find the answer, it lives within.
Can't worry about tomorrow, it never comes...
Yesterdays always come and gone.
Do you realize, it's not a game?
There's no reliving, live for each day.
of numbered days,
The song remains the same. We never know why
people cry, we can't understand
It all it's a Mystery of the Heart.
Turning, Turning life goes on. Only a moment then it's gone.
Take your good days, just a few...
Make them count, make them true.

You're the reason, I know it's right. To stand together return the fight.
So many people they turn away, but only love will win
the day.
Now I realize, it's not a game...
There's no reliving, live for each day.
of numbered days,
The song remains the same. We never know why
people cry, we can't understand
It all it's a Mystery of the Heart.
