We could pretend we're friends but I'm through that
So we would just be wasting all our time
And find brief relief in make believes
Cause I've decided that I only love what's mine

And we're did all your money go at last
Is it hidden like mine in a mattress
Did you spend it on cliches in phonecalls
Did you spend new years eve in a bungalow

Whatever's fine with me I said
I could do drugs that I've claimed I hate
If i only could I think that I would waste more time
But now it's all too late
Wasting all of our time
