There's some place I've got to be love
Some people I've got to meet
As the world lies out before me
There are no chains around my feet

There's some place I've got to be love
Some people I've got to see
As the world lies out before me
I can hear you calling me

What has become of the plans we made and
What's become of my tears?
What has become of the days of olden?
What's become of the years?

There's some place I've got to be love
Some things that I must do
It's not that I don't care now
You know I always do

There's some place I've got to be love
This desire I can't hold
I've got to find the answer
To every story I've been told

What has become of the plans we made and
What's become of my tears?
What has become of the days of olden?
What's become of the years?

There's some place I've got to be love
Some people I've got to meet

What has become of the plans we made and
What's become of my tears?
What has become of the days of olden?
What's become of the years?

What has become since the day we parted
What's become of our fears?
What has become since the day we started

What's become of the years?

There's some place I've got to be love
Somewhere that I must go
