Lean on me and I might break.
If there is too much, too much to take.
Maybe I can break your fall,
If I can stand on my feet again.

With time I will try to mend your broken heart.
I will always try to spend some time to ease your mind.

I will learn what's on your way.
And see things clear, though I might be scared.
You know I will try my best
To know your fears and dry your tears.

With time I will try to mend your broken heart.
I will always try to spend some time to ease your mind.

Is this what you always wanted of your precious time?

With time I will try to mend your broken heart.
I will always try to spend some time to ease your mind.
