I won't make the same mistakes. I try to learn from what I've done.

Now you can't have it your way, I know that this can't go on.

Why is it so hard to tell what I feel, I know it's the right thing, still I'm struggling. Always confused by the thoughts that run through. Please forgive.

I won't do this again. I promise I'm through with this game.

Now there is no other way. I know that this can't go on. Still my head is straight up confused, by thinking of all that I may come to loose. Don't want to explain this again and again. Please understand.
