

Anna Coddington

"Heavy Boots, Blue Skies"

Visit "Heavy Boots, Blue Skies" on MotoLyrics.com

Out on a wire
You take a chance
Wait for the wind to blow
To take you somewhere
To bring you back
Give you the courage to go

Out on the weekend
You drink it straight
Look for a movement, a breeze
Your boots are heavy
Your head is light
It should be easy to leave

Eyes out to the horizon, don't cry
I want you to fly
I'll push the clouds back for you
I want it to be blue skies

You love the nature
You love the birds
So relaxed in the sky
Your wings are tiny
Your dreams are huge
It's such a burden to fly

Eyes out to the horizon, don't cry
I want you to fly
I'll push the clouds back for you
I want it to be blue skies

Visit Anna Coddington page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.