

Anna Coddington

"Hold You Here"

Visit "Hold You Here" on MotoLyrics.com

You are reading into this too much
Can't you see that the sun is shining
If the seaside is not enough
How will you ever know how to be happy
You shouldn't need me to point it out
It's all right in front of your face
All the beautiful things out there
And everything that

Everything that holds you here
Everything that you hold dear

Is it really all that strange
You're so surprised at the way a heart can change
But for all the things you are
You've never been consistent from the start
So don't take me for granted
I can only take so much of this
There's so many beautiful things out there
They are the things that

Everything that holds you here
Everything that we hold dear

I don't make the rules for you
You toe your own line
Do whatever your heart tells you too
But listen to mine
It's singing out loud and clear
You are the thing that

The only thing that holds me here
The only thing that I hold dear

Hold me here

Visit Anna Coddington page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.